3. a strip of land south of the Perleberg-Suekow (N 54/T 70) road, which had belonged to some farmers from Suekow, was confiscated for a scheduled expansion of the field. Since the land and even the buildings on it were allegedly surveyed, the farmers were afraid of losing their houses. ***

4. December the field was observed from its northern edge. The visibility was very poor. About 30 laborers were dismantling the railroad spur track on the northern edge. Four surveyors, who were equipped with red and white stakes and surveying instruments, were doing some work about 200 meters from the northern edge of the landing field. No other work was being done at the field.
